Details:

Reducing Motorcycle Injuries and Fatalities Is Aim of the Huntington Beach Police Department

Careless motorists as well as riders get special scrutiny

During the month of July, the Huntington Beach Police Department Traffic Unit will be patrolling the city with a directed focus on motorcycle safety. The intent of the officers is to educate motorcycle riders and passengers on safety helmet laws and deter motorcyclists who ride recklessly and commit moving violations. Officers will also be checking to ensure riders have the proper motorcycle endorsement on their driver's license.

According to the Motorcycle Industry Council, there is an estimated 10 million motorcycles owned and operated in the United States. Approximately 1,312,000 of those are located in California. With Huntington Beach being situated near the Pacific Ocean and within close proximity to many scenic mountain areas, many motorcycle riders will frequent or pass through our city. Over the last year, the City of Huntington Beach has had 48 traffic collisions involving motorcycles, resulting in one fatality and 42 injuries rider and/or passenger. Seven of the collisions were alcohol related and resulted in one death.

We ask that motorcycle riders practice defensive driving and are responsible with their riding habits. In addition, motorists should be aware of motorcycle riders as they have a smaller signature, a more difficult time stopping, and can come into view quickly. Motorcyclists don't have the same protections that cars do. Motorcycle riders and passengers should only wear helmets and safety equipment which meet the standards of the Department of Transportation and comply with the California Vehicle Code. Motorcycle owners should be aware that making modifications to their exhaust systems and lighting equipment can cause distractions to residents and motorists and may be more likely to cause collisions than to prevent them.
